

MEET THE DOLPHINS TANGALOOMA'S FAMILY TREE

Want to know more about the Tangalooma dolphins? Visit us online on www.tangalooma.com

Beauty was the first dolphin to visit us here at Tangalooma. By 1992, she was hand feeding on a nightly basis and had also brought in her newest calf with her, Tinkerbell. Not long after, Bess, another mature female, began to visit our shores with her young son Rani. Since those early days, Beauty and Bess' calves have been coming to see us almost every night, and their families continue to grow.

Beauty

Passed away: 1995

Bella

Passed away: Nov 2012

Bess

Passed away: 2000

Fred

Passed away: 2007

Echo

Born: 1992

By far the oldest member of the pod, old Freddy was like a grandfather to the dolphins here at Tangalooma. Estimated to be upwards of 40 years of age, Fred was one of the first dolphins to accept the young orphan Echo has now passed away. He stopped visiting the feed in 2007.

Sadly, Echo had a more tragic introduction to the feeding program, arriving at the jetty alone when he was only 6 months old. Luckily, the Tangalooma dolphins took the young orphan under their wing (or flipper), allowing him to grow into the healthy adult male we see today!

* Sadly, Pheonix and Bobo have not returned since the 2011 floods and Sprite & Tangles have not returned to the nightly feed.
